community living society

Welcome to Community Living Society (CLS)

We are excited to be working together with you and those close to you to decide the services to best support you.

Working Together with You

We have many different types of services. We help you learn about and decide which of these services you want to use, and how you use them.

We use a Person Centred Approach which means we learn from you and help you develop your own plan for the services that can best help you with your goals.

The CLS Vision and Mission Guide Our Support and Services

Our Vision:

Communities where every person lives with dignity and enjoys a full life.

Our Mission:

Supporting people to live as full citizens.

Having the right support helps all of us to be part of our communities and to be seen as valued citizens. We ensure everyone has legal rights, responsibilities, and opportunities to make contributions that help make our communities more welcoming for everyone.

Our Values

Respect

Every person is unique and important, with strengths and abilities we celebrate.

Everyone has the right to be supported to make choices and have them respected.

Respect also means living with dignity and equality in places where you feel safe and secure.

Community

Everyone can be part of community. When we include everyone, our communities are stronger.

We support social change to make our communities stronger and healthier.

Integrity

This means we stand up for our values. We make sure all of us at CLS have good training to support our mission and values. We make sure we are following good practices to provide you with high quality services to meet your needs.

Accountability

- We make sure we are focussed on your goals and the outcomes you want.
- We learn from the feedback you provide.
- We work hard to deliver quality services.

How CLS Began

Woodlands Parents Group

In the 1970's, a group of parents who had children who were placed in an institution called Woodlands decided to change things.

They formed the Community Living Society to help people with a disability live full, inclusive lives in community.

The voices of these families, self-advocates and families like you, help to make CLS known as a leader in providing quality services for people with developmental disabilities.

Our Team

CLS Board of Directors

Formed in 1977 by families, our Board of Directors continues to include people who receive service and their families to help guide the directions CLS takes.

CLS Leadership

The Board of Directors hires our Chief Executive Officer (CEO) to lead CLS. The CEO hires a leadership team to manage all services and our employees.

CLS Program Employees

Our amazing employees including our contracted caregivers, volunteers and students are the people you see day to day who provide your support.

Our Ethical Code of Conduct

Everyone who works at CLS as an employee, contractor, volunteer, or student, signs our Ethical Code of Conduct.

This Code of Conduct sets the standard for all of us to work responsibly and ethically in all areas of our work with CLS:

- In our services and how we provide support to you.

- In our work together with CLS and how we support each other to do our best.

- In the use of our time and program budgets.

Accessing Our Services Using Technology

Sometimes, we may be able to provide service using technology.

We do this, when we can, to better support you with tasks/ activities you want to do independently, but may want to check in with us or talk it through as you do it.

Or, to include your family or others in a planning meeting when they can't be there in person.

At our planning meetings we will talk about this option to see if it might be a good fit, and so you can decide if this might work for you.

To choose this option, you must have your own equipment - a computer or other device, and Wi-Fi, or phone plans.

CLS does not buy or provide these for you.

We will make sure you have the information you need so you can participate successfully. We will also sign a consent form together, so we all feel comfortable with and know our responsibilities.

Making Sure You are at the Centre of Your Services

At CLS, you will hear us use the term, Person Centred a lot. That's because we want to be sure your voice and choices guide the services we provide.

Individual Service and Quality of Life Plan (ISQLP)

We help you think about your life and how you want it to be. Then, we help you choose goals and steps so you can start to build your life the way you have chosen. Your goals help us focus our supports on what you want.

Part of being person centred is making sure you are supported to have choice and control in your life.

This means we make sure we are providing lots of opportunities for you to be involved in all areas of your life, participating in the ways that work for you.

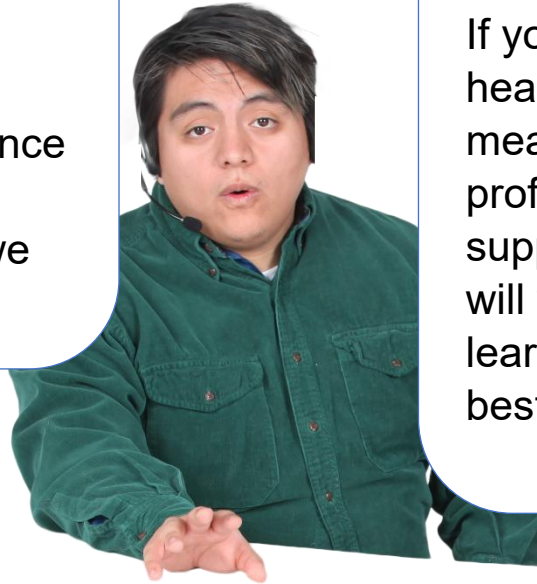

I did it!!

Active Support helps us learn from you, so we don't take over and do things for you. We learn how to provide you with the right type of support when you need it.

Adding Important Planning to Your Individual Service and Quality of Life Plan (ISQLP)

Care Plan

We make sure we learn from you and your personal support network what assistance and support you may need in daily life so we can support you well.

Health Care Plan

If you have critical health care needs that mean other health professionals are supporting you too, we will work with them to learn about how we can best support you.

Behavioural Support / Safety Plan

Sometimes a behaviour support plan will be put in place to help you with any behaviours you may have that make it hard for you to have the life you want or may be unsafe for others in your life. We work with special consultants to help develop a plan with you so you can learn to find better ways to meet your needs.

We make sure to review each of these plans every year as part of your annual Individual Service and Quality of Life Plan review.

Making Sure your Individual Service and Quality of Life Plan (ISQLP) is Working for You

Each year we help you plan a time to meet with everyone on your support team including CLS employees, other people providing supports or services to you, and members of your personal support network.

At this meeting we talk about your plans and make sure our support is helping you to achieve the quality of life you want. We also review how others in your life can support your plan.

Your Rights and Responsibilities at CLS

We want you to feel safe and comfortable and will make sure we review your rights with you and the ways you can get the most from our services by meeting your responsibilities.

We have many ways to help you learn about your rights and responsibilities.

Health and Safety at CLS

Planning for Emergencies

In all of our locations, we make plans and make sure we have emergency supplies and first aid kits in case there is an emergency.

We also practice emergency drills, so everyone knows what to do in a real emergency.

First Aid Certification

All employees are trained in first aid.

Medications

If you are involved in a CLS service where we help you with medications, we make sure our employees are trained and follow safety rules.

Preventing Infection

We make sure our employees follow universal precautions. This means they make sure to wear gloves and other protection if they will be providing personal care. They also make sure to follow guidelines if there is a pandemic.

Inspections

We have Fire and Safety Inspections by professionals who make sure we are keeping our locations safe.

Is this home safe for the people who live here?

Staffed homes have licensing inspections.

Home Share Providers have annual health and safety inspections.

CARF surveyors visit to make sure we are meeting important quality services and health and safety standards.

Risk and Safety Planning

We help you and your personal support network manage any risks that stop you from doing things or cause you to be unsafe when you are doing things you want to do.

Learning new skills like learning how to get to a new job safely.

Adding to your support circle to have more people who care and look out for you.

We work with you to help you plan safeguards so you can enjoy chosen activities safely and comfortably.

Knowing your community so you know people to go to if you need help.

Decision Making and Legal Authority

We respect your decisions and will help you get the facts you need to make good choices. You might also talk with your personal support network.

If you have someone else who is the decision maker for you, or has to be involved in decisions with you, CLS will need to have a copy of the legal agreement that states who this is, and what decisions they must be involved in. This might be:

Representation
Agreement Form 7

A specific person is named who will help or make personal care, health care, routine financial, and legal decisions with or for you.

Representation
Agreement Form 9

A specific person is named who will help or make personal care and health care decisions only.

Power of Attorney

A specific person is named who will help or make financial and legal decisions only.

Public Guardian and Trustee (PGT)

A corporation granted legal authority to protect the legal, financial, personal and health care interests of adults who require assistance in decision making.

Private Trustee

A committee decided by a legal court to make legal, financial, personal and health care decisions for an adult who can't make these decisions themselves.

If you have questions about these agreements and how they might apply to you, please be sure to consult a legal professional or Nidus at <https://nidus.ca/> for assistance.

Respecting Your Privacy and Confidentiality

We respect your right to have information about you kept private and shared only with people who are authorized to see it.

We keep the information you share with us in your confidential record. This record includes all information we gather to support you and our notes and other reports about your service with us.

Who Can See Your Information?

Only our employees and contracted caregivers who are working directly with you or who manage your services or oversee the quality of your services, have access to your information and only for the job they are assigned to do.

Your funders (CLBC) and authorities such as Licensing (if you live in a staffed home) or CARF, who monitors our services for quality, also have access to your records to help make sure your services are up to standard and meeting your needs.

When you choose to accept CLS services, you agree to sharing your information in this way.

Access to Your Record

You may review any information that we have written about you that is in your file by asking any member of your CLS team. If you feel that anything in the file is incorrect, you can ask us to review it.

Consent

"I want my new employer to have information about how I learn best so they know how to help me be successful at my new job."

Consent to Share Your Information

We do not share any information about you outside CLS without your consent. We will ask you to sign a consent form for each person or organization you agree can have information about you and for what purposes.

Situations Where We are Required by Law to Share Your Information

It is important to know that CLS must share certain information, even if you don't consent. This is required by law.

Abuse

When someone is hurting you.

Neglect

When someone is not taking care of you as needed.

Suicide Threats

When you say that you will hurt yourself or take your own life.

Subpoenaed Information

When a judge has given us a court order to share information.

Consent to Release – Photograph/Video:

We will also ask you to provide consent in order to use your photo, video, or any other images of you. Like all consents, you have the right to say 'no' and to choose when and how your image and/or name might be used if you do provide consent.

We review your consents with you and your personal support network as needed, or at least once a year during the ISQLP meeting. You also have the right to withdraw consent at any time.

Working to Make Sure We Provide Quality Services

Learning From You

We make sure to listen to you so we can learn about ways to improve our services and/or keep things the same because they work for you. We do this by:

Talking with you about your ideas and suggestions. Writing down any concerns you raise and ideas we worked on together to fix them.

Inviting you, members of your personal support network, and other people working with us, to tell us about your experiences in our annual survey.

Setting and Measuring Performance Goals

We set goals that help us measure how well we are doing in helping you achieve your expectations from our services. Then we gather information to help us learn how we are doing and how we can improve to help us meet our goals.

Meeting Quality Standards

We work hard to make sure our services meet high quality standards that help the people we serve to meet their goals and dreams of a good life.

CARF Surveyors help us by giving us suggestions and recommendations about ways to improve what we do. During their review, they might meet with you or your personal support network, visit our locations, and review our files.

We also make sure we meet all the government and other regulations and standards that are required in order to receive funding for our services.

You and your personal support network have many ways you can be involved help guide our services and to learn about what is happening.

Getting the Most from Your Services

Keep us Informed

Make sure we have the information we need to give you the best service possible.

Things that change in your life -new job, new home, loss of a family member, new health concern

Questions or concerns you have. Other feedback.

Changes to contact information for you or your personal support network members.

Take an active part in your service.

- ✓ Learn about the service, what it can and can't offer you and how to get the most from it.
- ✓ Speak out and engage in your planning so your goals are yours.
- ✓ Help our employees learn how to support you well.
- ✓ Ask questions and let us know if something is bothering you.

Addressing Your Problems, Concerns or Complaints

We want you to tell us if something isn't working. That way we can learn how to do better!

Informal Complaints

Make sure to tell your support worker if something isn't working so they can sort it out with you.

You can talk in person, text, phone, or email.

You can bring someone with you to help talk about the problem if that is more comfortable!

Don't be afraid to tell us. We want to learn what will work for you. Nothing bad will happen to you if you make a complaint.

If It Doesn't Get Solved

If your support worker can't help you sort out the problem, you can make a Formal Complaint to try to solve it.

Making a Formal Complaint

CLS has a Formal Complaint Procedure to make sure your problem gets heard. Follow the steps below.

Remember, CLS wants to hear what isn't working so we can make our services work well for you.

Step 1: We make sure the problem is written down. It can be written by you, an advocate, or you can ask a CLS employee to write it for you.

Program
Leader

Step 2: First, the Program Leader will try to work it out with you. It may take up to 5 business days for them to get back to you. Hopefully this will work and you will have your problem fixed in a way that works for you.

Program
Director

Step 3: If step 2 doesn't work for you, you can ask to have the Program Director help you solve it. It may take up to 5 business days for them to get back to you. They will work hard to help figure out a way to solve your problem.

Chief
Operating Officer

Step 4: If your problem still hasn't been worked out, you can ask the Chief Operating Officer to help you solve it. It may take up to 5 business days for them to get back to you. We hope this step helps you solve the problem!

Chief
Executive
Officer

Step 5: Finally, if your problem is still not solved, you can ask for the Chief Executive Officer to help you with it. It may take up to 5 business days for them to get back to you.

If Step 5 doesn't work, or, if at any step, you would like someone outside of CLS to look at your problem, you can call your funder, BC Advocate for Service Quality, or the licensing health authority. We can supply you with contact information for them.

Supporting you when you leave our services

There may be reasons you decide to end your services with CLS.

You are successful in meeting your goals.

Your needs have changed, and you need a different kind of service CLS cannot

You are moving somewhere new where CLS does not offer services.

New Service
Provider

You decide to go with another service provider.

We respect your choices and are happy to support you as you get ready to leave our services.

Planning Next Steps

No matter what the reason is for this change, we are here to help plan next steps with you if you choose. This might mean:

Planning Your Transition

Working with your personal support network, funder, and other agencies to find, and/or map out a smooth transition to a new service.

Wishing you
the best!!

Reviewing Your Experience

Writing an 'Exit Summary' that celebrates the outcomes you achieved and your next steps.

Getting your permission to contact you after you leave to get your feedback on your transition and find out how you are doing.
